Before joining STEMPOINT, I worked for Fujitsu Services for 16 years. I joined as a Customer Services Agent then took the role as Lead Services Controller where I oversaw 5 members of staff while taking a lead role in any active major incidents and disaster recovery protocol. From there, while still working at Fujitsu, I moved into a Business Support/Administrative role supporting multiple contracts with their accounts/invoices working closely with several Service Delivery Managers.

I joined STEMPOINT in January 2020 to support the team with their administration. I am now the Nuffield Research Placement Coordinator for London, Essex and Norfolk. I feel very privileged to work for STEMPOINT and be able to inspire young people in STEM.
